The History of Marble Falls

Founded in 1887 by General Adam R. Johnson, Marble Falls is located in the heart of the Texas Hill Country on the Colorado River. Before the dam was built to form Lake Marble Falls, water cascaded over 20-foot ledges which resembled marble, providing a name for the new city. The falls are now under water and only visible on those rare occasions when the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA) lowers the lake for repairs to the dam and boat docks.

The first city officials were elected in 1907 when a mayor/ alderman form of government was instituted. In 1917, the all-male voting population of Marble Falls (women hadn't yet won the right to vote) elected Ophelia "Birdie" Crosby Harwood one of the first female mayors in the United States. However, it was the 866-foot stone monolith called Granite Mountain looming on the town's western edge that secured Marble Falls' place in Texas history.

It was here that the famed "Texas Pink" granite was quarried to construct the Texas State Capitol Building in Austin. The stone was a donation from progressive area citizens in exchange for a rail connection with Austin. The Austin and Northwestern Railroad built an extension to Marble Falls from Granite Mountain in 1889, and a post office was also established that year. Granite Mountain is still actively quarried, and a variety of granite products are shipped all over the world.

Today, it is the natural setting of lakes and hills that makes the Marble Falls/Lake LBJ area one of the most attractive and popular tourist and retirement destinations in all of Texas. Renowned for its scenic beauty, visitors come to this area to experience our beautiful waterways and lush, rolling hills. Indigenous species include everything from American Bald Eagles during winter months to great old live oaks that shade the landscape throughout the seasons. Spring brings a burst of color with a multitude of wildflowers including our state flower, the bluebonnet. Fields and back roads are covered with blossoms as far as the eye can see. Many amateur and professional photographers and artists come to capture the natural beauty of the Highland Lakes area.

The Highland Lakes

The Highland Lakes welcome visitors from all over the world. Lake Marble Falls and Lake LBJ are nestled in the Texas Hill Country on the Colorado River. Since they are usually constant-level lakes, water activities abound year round, making the lakes popular for boating, fishing, sailing, water skiing, jet skiing, swimming, wading, camping and just plain relaxing. Famous Texas sunrises and sunsets are even more magnificent when reflected off our lakes.

Golf Courses

Some of the best golf in the world is right in our backyard. Designers like Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Tom Fazio, Tom Kite and Robert Trent Jones have all used the natural resources in our area to construct magnificent tracts that challenge scratch golfers, yet remain playable for casual duffers. The courses in the Highland Lakes area feature wet creeks, massive granite outcroppings, lakeside lies, plenty of trees and stunning vistas. Best of all, because of our mild climate our courses are open year-round.

Art

Without question, there is a burgeoning arts scene in Marble Falls. From live music venues to a growing public art program to galleries and studios, we have much more to offer than a town our size should be able to justify. At the center of it all is our historic Main Street district and Sculpture on Main, an international collection of large-scale works that grows every year.

We enjoy vistas of the hills and the lake from many points in town; being surrounded by such beautiful scenery shapes our natural association with aesthetics. We exist at a stylistic and cultural intersection, with cowboy artists from the west, Austin's eclectic influences from the east, and San Antonio's long and rich heritage from the south.

Wineries

Whether it's the wild grapes that naturally thrive in the area or the influence of European immigrants who planted cuttings from their homeland, today's vintners take advantage of our ideal climate for producing award-winning wines. Area wine connoisseurs can visit five different and unique vineyards. Some of the local vineyards have been established for decades, while others were only conceived a few years ago.

Not surprisingly, however, all our local wineries have received awards and praise in local, national, and international competitions, as well as well-known magazines and publications. Combine that with our genuine Texas hospitality, the beautiful Hill Country setting and a true passion for producing and sharing truly great wines, and it's easy to see why so many people plan vacations around wine-tasting tours in the area.

Wildflowers & Wildlife

The Texas Hill Country becomes a rainbow of magnificent colors every spring as over 48 species of wildflowers grace the landscape. The wildflower season opens in March with the famous bluebonnets covering roadsides and fields. They are soon joined by Indian paintbrushes making seas of blue and red across the Texas hills.

As these beautiful flowers begin to wane in late April, the Indian blanket flowers renew the hillside color with bursts of red, pink, and yellow from late April through May. Additional species of flowers such as the yellow greenthread, primrose, winecup, prairie verbena, prickly pear cactus, phlox, daisies and other flowers bloom into June.

Just as impressive is the abundant wildlife that calls our area "home." Texas longhorns graze amid rolling pastures, and white-tailed deer can be seen around just about every corner. Look to the trees and sky to spot some of our more than 240 avian species, including hummingbirds, golden-cheeked warblers, painted buntings, red-tailed hawks, peregrine falcons and bald eagles.
